

From the very first day in 1981 when DFA was founded they were in pursuit of using academic research to understand the capital markets. Dimensional's core belief that the capital markets were efficient, allowed them to look for dimensions that are embedded in the market and can be harnessed but not timed.

Today, Dimensional manages over $400 Billion and their management services are only available to institutional clients and through a select group of financial advisors. Access to Dimensional's institutional caliber mutual funds provides our clients globally diversified, low cost and tax efficient portfolios that can be customized to each client's risk profile.
